Camp Out with Kids

Wow what a success! Thank you to all the families who supported our first Camp Out with Kids. Your support was overwhelming. We had 13 families out of 17 participate in the parent and child experience. All parents and kids participated in a variety of fun activities from parents versus the kids soccer match, to stories around the camp fire. The feedback from the camp was that it should be an annual event so look out for this program again in 2017.

Pirate Ship Test day Charity Creek

It was the windiest day of the year last Friday down at Charity Creek (the venue for the Pirate Ship test). All 15 of our students made a fantastic well thought designed pirate ship that had to make the specifications of being able to float, be made from recycled material, be propelled by wind, hold 200 grams of weight, have a crow's nest and a Jolly Roger flag. I am really proud of the amazing job the kids did. All the boats passed the floating, wind and weight tests and were good to go in the sailing and rapid races respectfully. Ayla Turner took out the sailing category with her super light recycled foam water craft that glided through the water. The Charity Creek race was a race of nutrition. The boats had to battle the strong winds and tough and rough rapid sections down to the bottom deep pool. Lachlan Beattie's and Elizabeth Archinal's were batted but not defeated and beat their counter parts ships down to the finish line. Special thanks to the amazing support of all the parents who brought their children, helped with the project and help make the day one to remember for the kids. Special mention and thanks to Bill Archinal, Nathan Jenkins and Jeremy Mills who braved the icy water conditions to ensure all the boats got a fair go and made it down the rapids. Not all the boats made it in one piece but it will be a memory etched in the children's minds for a long time I think. Well done kids!
